The lineup may consist of a minimum of one performer to a maximum of five, at least one of whom must be enrolled or working at one of the nine universities in the SEA-EU Alliance.

Deadline for submitting your application: May 15, 2024.

ASSESSMENT AND SELECTION OF APPLICATIONS

Each university commits to establishing a local jury responsible for assessing the performance videos received, considering (but not limited to):

- Overall artistic impression
- Stage presentation
- Musical expression

Additionally, the local jury will also assess the feasibility of replicating the performance on stage with available equipment.

In the case of vocal performances, the local jury may prefer performances in the native language.

The winner of each local selection will be named by the university, corresponding to the coordination of the competition (artplatform.seaeu@uniparthenope.it). The local-level selection will end on May 31, 2024.

Each jury will provide feedback to all participants and collect the winner's willingness to participate in the live concert.

In the event that the winning artists are unable to attend the concert, it will be up to the jury to indicate the runner-up as a substitute, and so on until the participating artist is confirmed.

At the end of the stage of identifying the winners, the names will be announced through the official channels of each university as well as on the official SEA-EU website (www.sea-eu.eu) between June 5 and June 30, 2024. The list of winners who will participate in the live concert in Naples will thus be announced.

LOCATION

The concert will be held in the Villa Doria d'Angri, one of the University Parthenope sites and one of the most important neoclassical villas in Italy. In 1880 Villa Doria d'Angri hosted Richard Wagner for several months. Here the German composer continued working on his last great opera, "Parsifal", and wrote the autobiographical book "My Life". On the patio overlooking the Villa Hall, Joseph Rubinstein premiered the first act of "Parsifal" on the piano on May 22, 1880. Since then, the hall where Wagner stayed, also known as the Hall of Mirrors, has been named "Wagner Hall".
